WASHINGTON NEWS.

Fresh Cabinet Rumors—Teller's Nomination Postponed.

Arthur's Action on the Chinese Bill Still Uncertain.

Col. Carr Admonished and Restored to His Command.

GENERAL CARR'S CASE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 29. Adjutant General Drum, by direction of Secretary Sherman has sent the following to Major General McDowell, commanding the division of the Pacific for his information and that of the officers concerned. The communication of Brevet General Wilcox commanding the department of Arizona of January 6th 82 conclusing charges and specifications against Col. J. A. Carr Sixth Cavalry forwarded with your endorsement January 11th, 82 was duly received and laid before the secretary of war for action of the president of the United States under the 62d article of war. The papers have been returned endorsed as follows: War department February 11 1882. Respectfully returned to the secretary of the army. The within mentioned charges have been submitted to the president and having been duly considered by him he of the opinion that public interests do not require that they should be filed by court martial as such trial would cause an expense of time which will be justifiable by the results likely to follow. The president however is not satisfied with the condition of affairs in the department of Arizona as exhibited by matter set forth in these charges especially the letter of Col Carr bearing date of 20th of September, 1881 from which it is apparent that a distinct state in disorganization in Arizona was effected by feelings of disrespect and insubordination towards his commanding officer which were detrimental to the service and especially unbecoming an officer of his rank and experience. The president thinks that a admonition will subserve just interests in this case and he therefore directs that the general of the army shall properly admonish Colonel Carr, and no further proceedings will be had under these charges."

Robert T. Lincoln
Secretary of War

The president having directed the general to properly admonish Colonel Carr he can only do so by informing him that his immediate commanding officers think he marks the conduct of Carr at Camp Apache during the period of August 1881 as set forth in the first three specifications of the charges as unsatisfactory and the whole of his letter of December 5th 1881 addressed to division headquarters through department headquarters is fault finding in a subordinate, improper and altogether such a letter as no colonel in the army should write and which no commanding officer should receive without immediate notice, and he can only do so by preferring charges. The action of the president puts an end to the subject. Carr must be relieved from arrest and restored to his command.

Very respectfully,
R. C. Drum
Adjutant General

THE HOSPITAL ASSURED.

The ladies of Washington organized to day a ladies' aid society of the Garfield memorial hospital, and chose the following officers: President Mrs. Senator Windom, vice-presidents, Mrs. General J. P. Ricketts and Mrs. Speaker Keifer, recording secretary, Mrs. Leonard Whitney, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Senator Blair, treasurer Mrs. Commissioner George B. Loring. A committee appointed for that purpose perfected the organization by the appointment of additional vice presidents from each state and territory. The committee included the wives of Speaker Keifer, Senators Butler Harrison and Hill of Colorado, and of Representatives Springer, Deuster, Long, Bowman, Barrow and Cannon, of Illinois, Mas Swann, Mrs. Commissioner McLelland, Mrs. General Ricketts and Mrs. General Lander. The membership fee is one dollar. A large number of subscriptions were handed the treasurer. The attendance was large, including the wives of many senators and representatives and leaders of society here. Senator Windom, in a brief address, said a general hospital was greatly needed, and would be a memorial of General Garfield, more suitable to his character than one of marble or brass. A. S. Solomons, chairman of the committee of ways and means, stated that almost enough money had been raised to justify placing the hospital in active operation.

CONFIRMATIONS.

United States Consul Lewis Stevens, of Pennsylvania at Nagasaki, Indian agents, Harry J. Armstrong, of Kansas, Crows agency, Montana, Chas. Monteith, Nez Perces, Idaho.

CABINET GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, March 29.—A Washington special says: To day it is considered probable that Teller's nomination will be sent in about April 1st. It is understood that Secretary Kirkwood is to stay in the cabinet until about that time. As Saturday will be the first of April it is thought the nomination may be sent in on Monday. It is reported to day that the new secretary of the navy will be General Rowe instead of William E. Chandler as has been understood for some time.

THE VESTING A BILL.

CHICAGO, March 29.—The Journal's Washington special says: Senator Sherman is said to be much annoyed at the removal of Wilson revenue collector at Louisville and the appointment of a Grant man. He says if the administration continues its course he will make open war and refuse to support its nominees. Other senators are also dissatisfied, claiming Logan, Cameron and Jones of Nevada control all appointments. Stephens' resolution about the removal of Hays the colored telegrapher brings out an explanation that Hays was removed, not because he was a democrat but because he got a scathing from the New York Associated Press for the duties of which were inconsistent with the privacy which should attend a reporter in a room of telegraphs.

TWO SIDES TO THE QUESTION.

NEW YORK, March 29.—A Washington special to the Graphic says: Hundreds of telegrams are being received at the White House urging the president not to sign the Chinese bill. They come from all parts of the country except the Pacific coast. It is understood the president is being strongly advised in Washington by public men here to both sign and veto the bill and he is becoming a very good question what to do in the premises. There are two phases of the question the right or wrong of it in the abstract and the political bearing of the case. It is strongly maintained by Senators Jones of Nevada, Miller of California and others from the Pacific coast, and they state that is not only right but an absolute necessity and that the president cannot afford to veto it. Others argue that the bill overstepped the bounds of the treaty, is not right and that for this reason it will not stand the cool inspection of time, when the excitement wears away and the people of the country come to reflect upon the question. It is argued that the Pacific slope cannot be depended upon to vote the republican ticket—California and Nevada both went for Hancock. There is no guarantee for immediate changes of heart in that section at any rate. If the bill becomes a law the democratic party will reap what credit there is in it because they voted solidly for it, while the republicans refused to do it unless it was modified.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

The senate amendment to the house bill granting a pension of $5,000 a year to Lucretia R. Garfield was concurred in. The amendment includes the names of Sarah C. Polk and Julia G. Tyler.

Kelley reported a bill for the reduction of taxation. Referred to the committee of the whole.

Stephens submitted a resolution instructing the committee on judiciary to inquire into the legality of removal by Speaker Keifer of Hays, colored stenographer.

The house went in committee on the tariff commission bill.

Carlisle resumed his argument contending that protective tariff was not the cause of increase of the price of labor.

Frost of Pennsylvania, favored the pending bill and the committee rose.

Bullsworth, of Ohio, reported back the army appropriation bill.

Fisher, of Pennsylvania, from the committee on coinage, weights and measures, reported the following: "Any owner of gold bullion or gold coin may deposit the same at any mint, to be formed in coin or bars for his benefit. It shall be lawful, however, to refuse any deposit."

Adjourned.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

Pendleton reported favorably his civil service bill.

Cockrell offered a resolution directing the secretary of state to inquire relative United States citizens imprisoned in Ireland.

The presidential count bill was laid aside and the Indian bill taken up.

Estimates for the service for '83 were $5,811,711,191. The amount of appropriations last year including deficiencies was $5,030,808. The amount of the present bill as it came from the house was $4,929,208. Additions made by the senate committee increased the amount $3,500,800 making the total as reported by the senate $5,160,008, being $69,157 in excess of the bill of '82. Four of items of increased appropriations made by the committee is $310,000, deducting $55,200. Among the items increased by the committee are a new building for Indian schools $50,000, education of Indian children in the states $17,000. The total appropriation exclusively for industrial schools is $412,200.

In the committee of the whole, Ingalls in the chair, committee amendments, with one or two exceptions, on which the votes were reserved, were agreed to.

Hoar moved to substitute for the committee amendment appropriating $17,000 for Indian children at schools other than those provided for, as follows: The secretary of the interior is further authorized and directed to provide support and education in any state in all Indian children dwelling west of the Mississippi river, and not belonging to the five civilized tribes of the Indian Territory, or as many thereof as are approved by the president, at a cost not exceeding $200 per annum for each child, and for this purpose there is appropriated two millions, or so much thereof as may be necessary. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Supreme Judge Blatchford will be sworn in Friday.

General Butler positively declines to become counsel for Guiteau.

A bill modifying the postal money order system will be reported to the house with favorable recommendation.

Dr. Lincoln, who visited Shipherd at the instance of the committee, reports Shipherd suffering from facial erysipelas and unable to leave his house for probably a week.

The following democratic congressional executive committee was appointed this morning: Congressmen Roseccrans, Flower, Randall, Forney, Thompson, Cobb and Jones.

A letter from Railroad Commissioner Arnstrong favoring vigorous prosecution of suits against the Pacific railroads, referred to the attorney general for his guidance to conduct those cases.

The president having directed the general of the army to properly admonish Colonel Carr, that duty has been discharged through the adjutant general, and the colonel restored to his command.

Denver Doings

DENVER, March 29.—Another sensation came to light this morning. A woman who gave the name of Smith died at two o'clock this morning on Twenty third street from blood poisoning superinduced by abortion perpetrated some six weeks ago. Deceased is a widow having been married three times it is said, and a resident of Humboldt, Mo., where she is known as Mrs. Mary Lutz. Her father is a prominent and wealthy citizen of Humboldt. It is not known by whom the abortion was committed.

George Greenshil, a boy only eight years old who on Monday together with a companion stole a horse and buggy, was to day sentenced to the reform school. This is the third or fourth time these boys have stolen horses within a short time. On Monday they got as far as Fort Lupton before being captured. Young Greenshil's father is a street preacher. The boys seem to have been led off by novel reading. On their last exploit they said they were going to New Mexico to join a band of desperadoes.

EXCHANGES OF THE WEEK

Speculation Thriving More Than Manufacturing

NEW YORK, March 29.—Most of the towns of the country show an increase in business transactions this week, as compared with the corresponding week of last year. Clearing house exchanges show only a few losses as follows: Baltimore 5.1, Boston 3.9, New Orleans 12, Louisville, 4.9. Indianapolis, 5.1, all others have gained. The exchanges generally are favorable, though it is evident speculation is thriving more than manufacturing. New York sales of stocks were unusually large, while Chicago and St. Louis dealings in grain were very heavy while the new excitement in mining stocks may perhaps account in part for the unusual transactions at San Francisco on the other hand southern cities have been falling behind partly on account of the flood and partly because the cotton movement is small. Boston is the general clearing house of most of the manufacturing cities and towns and reports smaller transactions than the corresponding week of last year while the gains at Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Providence, Hartford, Springfield and Kansas City, Cleveland, Worcester and Syracuse are exceptions to the report. In Great Britain, without knowing speculative activity in the east the returns correspond very closely with those of the previous week. It will be observed, both in irregularity and in signs of speculative activity, but are little less favorable on the wholesome effects manufacturing regions. It would be surprising, however, if contests between labor and capital should not cause greater depression in business hereafter at some manufacturing centres. Enormous transactions in grain at Chicago and in stocks at New York are not evidences of commercial health, nor is continued decline in exchanges at Baltimore, New Orleans, Louisville and Indianapolis a favorable sign, but reports are nevertheless more satisfactory than might be expected when floods, short crops and strikes are taken into account.

Eads' Scheme Endorsed

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—The merchants' exchange adopted the following:

Resolved, that it is the opinion of this body it is of utmost importance that congress pass the bill for the construction of a ship railway across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

Resolved that the great commercial interests of the Mississippi valley demand the construction of a transit for ships across the American Isthmus, that the Tehuantepec is in every sense the American route and possesses great advantages over either the Nicaragua or the Panama, that a ship railway is in the opinion of this body much more desirable than a canal, first because it can be speedily constructed at less expense and in less time, and second because when completed vessels can be much more quickly transported by railway than by canal and with equal safety.

Parliamentary Notes

LONDON, March 29.—The government refuses to pair three liberals with imprisoned Irish members at division on the Closure question. It is said the attorney general is still imposing a penalty for corrupt practices at elections, will disfranchise Sandwich and deprive Nestor, Macclesfield, Oxford, Gloucester and Boston, of one seat each in the commons.

Unprecedented Winter

CHICAGO, March 29.—St. Paul and Winnipeg specials report a heavy snow storm along the Canadian Pacific, which blocks traveling until warm weather. The weather and storms at Winnipeg have been unprecedented in severity. Pierre Duchaine, aged sixteen, starting across the country with a yoke of oxen, was snowed under near Coville, Dakota, and was found dead after eight days.

Texas Railroads

DALLAS, March 29.—Officials of the Chicago, Texas & Mexican Central railway say the road will not be embarrassed by the failure of McCauly, of Chicago, and will soon settle all liabilities. It is stated the charter for the Gulf & Pacific will be filed shortly and construction begun from both ends of the route.

Cruelty at Sing Sing

ATHENS, March 29.—Ex Keeper Blodgett testified to-day at an inquiry regarding abuses at Sing Sing prison that he resigned because he could not stand the brutality around him, and would not be keeper there for $1,000 per month, on account of hearing the moans of convicts who have been punished.

FLOOD AND FAMINE.

Summing up the Condition of the Overflow Sufferers.

No Actual Starvation or Destitution at Present.

Prolonged Contest in Louisiana Ended—Water Winning.

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—General Beckwith has just received a report from Lieutenant B. H. Randolph of the 9th Cavalry, dated Delta, Louisiana, in which he sums up as follows:

In the district from Red river to the Arkansas line and about fifty miles west of the Mississippi river, there has been no loss of life except a few children in Black river and there is no actual starvation or destitution at present. The supply of rations if judiciously husbanded will supply all pressing needs till April 10th, when if there is no improvement in the situation there will exist general destitution among all white and black. Should the floods fall decidedly by April 10th I think it is there will be needed only about one half rations of bacon and meal to Mays 1st for five thousand persons, who constitute the class of sufferers, white and black, and if there is no chance for the better before the tenth of April there will be about eighteen thousand persons without food and credit. Should the water fall decidedly by April 10th the probability is that planting can be begun by May 1st, and with that prospect large planters will prefer to feed their own hands. If the water continues to rise, the whole system of credit and working will be upset, commission merchants will decline to advance to country merchants and planters, and the latter will not be able to feed their neighbors. I cannot too strongly recommend all stores to be discontinued immediately upon such a subsidence of water that planting can begin.

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—A correspondent of the Times Democrat writing from Mansfield, says the protracted contest is over, and three counties are deserted by a vast sheet of water pouring over from four crevasses. Two hundred square miles of land occupied by four thousand people are covered with water. Twenty three plantations escape. The woods are full of stock wading in search of food, which are in the beginning to die. There is no suffering yet among the people but fish and wild game are getting scarce and there soon must be a call for help.

A telegram from Natchez says: Back water is still rising, and destruction is on the increase. A steamer is removing people and stock from Tensas river to Natchez. Town and country are crowded with refugees.

NATCHEZ, March 29.—The river is stationary with a tendency downward. Backwater in Vidalia is receding slowly and a better feeling pervades among planters who hope for a fair crop. The city is filled with colored refugees and many are offered work and wages, but they prefer idleness and government rations.

Murders

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—R. J. Bowman late county judge of Phelps county, fired a load of buckshot into the body of Alfred Hayes last night, killing him, as he was walking in the street in the little town of St. James. It was a regular assassination, Hayes being taken unawares.

Wm. Stark, a bully was murdered a man on a race track in Chicago four years ago, shot Martin Monohan in a political row in Kansas City, last night.

G. Bookeront, a respectable citizen of Archer county, Texas, was called out of his house a night or two ago by W. W. Parks, his son Theodore, and a man named Bowles, and riddled with bullets. The affair grew out of a law suit in which Parks was worsted.

LOUISVILLE, March 29.—An unknown miner shot and killed Alex C. Wingate, of Langton, on the O. & M. train near Mendota, Ind., this morning. The assassin then jumped from the train while going 40 miles an hour landed safely, walked half a mile to a creek, stripped and jumped in, drowning himself. Some money and whisky was found on his person.

A Prominent Politician Demented.

LOUISVILLE, March 29.—From Lexington comes the announcement that Col. Jno. A. Pratt has lost his mind. During the war Col. Pratt was chairman of the state senate committee on federal relations and exerted more influence than any other man toward keeping Kentucky in the union. He has, for many years, been a lawyer of large practice and one of the counsel in the famous Buford trial. In 1874 he was appointed United States pension agent at Lexington and has been prominent in state politics his whole life.

A Desperado Wanted

DALLAS, March 29.—Detective Jack Duncan left to-day for Arizona to secure Frank Jackson, the most desperate member of the Sam Bass gang of train robbers. Jackson has been at large since the famous fight at Round Rock, in 1878, in which Sam Bass, Seth Barnes, and others were killed. Post the information has been received that Jackson has been lurking between Las Vegas, Tucson, Tombstone and Prescott, since November, at the head of a gang of desperadoes. There is a standing reward of $4,500 for Jackson.

Canadian Half-breeds

CHICAGO, March 29.—Major Iges passed through here to-day en route to Washington. He will in a few days take command of Fort Assinaboine and intends to drive the Canadian half-breeds across the line into their own territory.

C. B. & Q. Report

The annual report of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway shows the gross earnings from rail lines to be $21,693,000, passenger $3,810,000, interest and miscellaneous $1,111,000, total $21,613,000. Operating expenses and taxes, $11,067,000, net earnings $10,546,000, net surplus $479,781. The net earnings decreased from 1880 by $130,000, owing to the large increase on prices of material and labor, snow blockades only in the year and to floods. The prospects for the future are much more favorable.

Domestic Tragedy

CHICAGO, March 29.—The Evening Journal's Pine Bluff, Arkansas, special says: Mrs. Bullard of Lincoln, after a disagreement with her husband on Monday took her children, aged seven and four years, and a four months old infant and repaired to a pond in the rear of her home, which she broke the backs of her two oldest, then her babies in the pond and waded into it and drowned herself. The family were respectable.

Moses again Arrested

NEW YORK, March 29.—Ex Gov. Moses of South Carolina has again been arrested on charges of swindling, and is now coming home. If to be the brother of Gen. Colquitt of Georgia, Anthony Wolf of Greenville, S. C., and Gen. Curtis state commissioner of North Carolina, that it was after breaking banks, he was out of funds and would like to raise funds by having checks cashed. There are many victims this time, and some of them promise to press the charge.

Sitting Bull Wants to be Civilized

ST. PAUL, March 29.—Dr. W. H. Talker, U. S. A., who has been vaccinating Indians in the west says Sitting Bull is anxious to see his people settling, the small pox plans are made to go for Sitting Bull and his immediate following from Fort Pembina to Yankton for instruction in civilization.

Destruction by Wind

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 29.—The storm in southeastern Alabama blew down the house of R. J. Richardson of Barbour county, killing him and Prentiss, near Cuthbert, Georgia, and Mrs. Pent and Mr. Martin near Brown's station were killed. A number of people were badly hurt and many houses were demolished.

CRIME AT LEADVILLE

Killing of a Police Officer by a Well-Known Attorney.

A special to the Denver Tribune contains the following account of the murder of Officer Townsend, of Leadville:

Shortly before 3 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon one of the most terrible tragedies in the history of Leadville took place on upper Harrison avenue, the victim being Officer Sam Townsend, one of the oldest and most popular officers of Leadville, and his slayer, Thomas C. Early, a leading young lawyer of this place. At the hour mentioned passers by on the avenue near the corner of Fifth street were startled by the loud report of one following the other in quick succession. The crowd that hurried around to the hall way of the Union block were horror stricken to see the well known form of Officer Sam Townsend prone upon the landing.

Mr. T. C. Early was standing on the stairs a few steps above, and paused irresolute which way to go. His hat lay at his feet, and his clothing was disheveled as though from a recent struggle. Fortunately among the first who were at the spot was Captain J. Byrne, the detective, in the city employ, and taking in the situation at a glance, he and hurried with him into Babcock's hat store next door.

As Byrne arrested Early, several gentlemen lifted Townsend and carried him across the street to Dodge's drug store where he was laid upon a pallet placed upon the floor. He was suffering the greatest agony, and it was only with great difficulty that he could be held down while an examination of his injuries was made. His garments were pulled open and in the abdomen about three inches above the right groin a ghastly bullet wound was revealed. The leaden messenger of destruction had buried itself in his bowels, and it was evident that

DEATH WAS CERTAIN.

Among the crowd that gathered about the door of Babcock's store were Officer Lafferty and several others of the intimate personal friends of Sam Townsend. They were filled with grief and rage and swearing revenge, forced their way into the store. Byrne had hurried with Early into the rear portion, where several steps descend into a small bin half full of coal. Early crouched down upon the coal. While in this position Lafferty and his friends rushed in, calling out, "Where is he?"

"KILL JIM."

They were terribly in earnest, and any harm befallen Early at that instant, Captain Byrne stepped out to the hall and with drawn revolver said he would allow no one to take him away save the proper officials and stood off the crowd until the sheriff and posse arrived and took charge of the prisoner. Early was then hurried to jail, a crowd of thousands filling the streets and yelling "Lynch him!"

Townsend expired in great agony in about half an hour.

THE PRISONER'S STORY.

Early said to your correspondent: "It was a purely outward little case in Dodge's court that I was attorney for. Townsend had acted very partially in the case and I took occasion to say something about it. Townsend came up to me in the court room and told me that I was a liar and that he would kick me as soon as he got me outside. I went down stairs and from there I went home and got my gun. He came back to settle up the costs in the suit. I met Townsend on the stairs and he began abusing me again. He heaped every kind of abuse on me and I said 'Town and let him pass. I don't want to have anything to do with you at all.' I saw he intended for his hip pocket and drew out his gun. He struck at me with it and I knocked it aside and shot. I shot through my pocket. I didn't even have time to take out my gun."

All the witnesses to the affair say Townsend did not put his gun for or make an effort to and the killing is recorded as a

COLD BLOODED MURDER.

A mob meant to get out of the Early out of jail to-night and lynch him, but nothing has been done up to late hour.

WHO THE PRISONER IS.

Early is a member of the firm of Danford & Early. He has engaged in some outside speculations notably Denver real estate from which he cleared considerable money. He has been known as a fierce partisan democrat and figured to a greater extent in the manipulation of party affairs in this county. The difference in votes over which the quarrel arose was ten cents.

We stated in yesterday's GAZETTE that Marshal Beall had arrested three tramps one of whom had in his possession a coat which was supposed to be stolen property. The tramps were taken before Justice Pigley and fined $15 and costs each. Execution was suspended and the tramps were given until a certain time to leave. Shortly after they left a claimant for the stolen coat put in his appearance but too late to lodge a complaint against them.

What if there should be no vacancy after all?

The Register-Call is very strongly opposed to the appointment of Tabor.

Two months ago it was said that Sargent would be appointed secretary of the interior after February first.

The Tribune says: "The state directory "appears to be a candidate for the senate. We "take great pleasure in indorsing it for the po "sition."

Governor Routt keeps silent. After what he has done for the stalwarts and his desertion by them, it would be very pardonable if he won'd appear a little moody.

The Chieftain says at last one paper has endorsed our position regarding Chaffee. Will the Chieftain name a paper outside of Pueblo that favored the appointment of Chaffee as senator?

The civil service reform passage in the president's message was full of good ideas. The president pleaded for something practical, but his own suggestions were not practical enough for him to make any practical use of them.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald thinks that Collector Robertson will not be removed. Some days ago Senator Jones invited him to Washington, and his frequent calls on President Arthur and Secretary Folger show that he is on the best of terms with them.

The fight for the Teller vacancy, if there is one, has at last narrowed down to a contest between two bonanza kings, Bowen and Tabor. This is to be regretted. It was supposed that the governor would not allow this consideration to influence him, and possibly, when he appoints he will show that it has not influenced him.

It is being urged that if President Arthur vetoes the Chinese bill California will go democratic this fall. The same thing was said when President Hayes vetoed the other Chinese bill. But this does not seem to us a pertinent consideration, and ought not to influence the president in the slightest in his action. The bill is not passed to help the republican party, but the people of the Pacific coast. If it can help them and is just to others it should become a law. If it is not, it should be vetoed. This is the vital consideration. President Arthur can afford to do what is right and his party can afford to have him. The question should be viewed only from the standpoints of the welfare of the Pacific coast and also the integrity of the national honor, and not from party expediency. "He serves his party best who serves his country best."

The Cincinnati Commercial's Washington correspondent gives the following description of the new quartermaster-general, which is anything but pleasing.

General Rufus Ingalls, Grant's chief quartermaster in the Army of the Potomac, is quartermaster general. He is a jolly old dog, who will be the center of a very delightful circle of good livers. He proposes sending all officers in this department of rank nearly approaching his own, now in Washington, out of town as speedily as possible. Colonel R. N. Batchelder, who was his right hand man in the Army of the Potomac, is to be brought here, and will be appointed chief manager of Old "Rufe's" amusements. "Rufe" asks but a quiet game of "American whist," a quiet glass of Cognac; but that little must be prepared for him. So Batchelder will soon be in our midst, "Purveyor" to the quartermaster-general of the army of the of the United States. "Rufe" is a genial old gentleman, but he lacks many refinements of manner characteristic of the polished gentleman of the world. For instance, when he came into office last week he asked his chief to bring up his subordinates and present them to him. Many of the clerks in his office are decayed gentlewomen, the widows and daughters of army and navy officers. Most of them are as proud as they are poor. It did not occur to General Ingalls to humor them so far as to go to their rooms in his building rather than to humiliate them by requiring them to come to his. Howbeit they came, a long line of them, headed by the chief clerk, behind whom walked a stately dame, the niece of an admiral of the navy, recently deceased. They found the Quartermaster general absorbed in conversation with a well known Grant republican. So absorbed was he that he did not see at first the ladies standing at his door. In fact, he did not seem to see them at all. They stood there perhaps five minutes, growing hot and cold by turns, as they realized the depth of their humiliation.

Then the admiral's niece turned to the chief clerk (who is a gentleman, and blushed for his superior) and said softly: "Perhaps we had better return to our rooms. The general seems to be busy." The chief clerk thought that would be the wise course, and back the throneless, crownless queens went, only to return half an hour later to be presented in squads to the disengaged old soldier.

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Next Tuesday the question of issuing $10,000 in bonds to build a new city building will be voted upon. Besides the question whether we should issue bonds for this purpose, there are some other considerations which we should take into account. For three years we have had an active, willing and faithful fire department that has carefully protected us from fire. They have given their services without pay, and their services have been of great value. The department has not had comfortable rooms for the companies. There have been no places for company meetings, no place to put property like uniforms, and no convenient place to keep the hose carts. It now feels that the city should do something for it. It has protected the property of the taxpayers, and it now asks in return that the taxpayers furnish proper accommodations for the hose carts and rooms for the companies to meet in. This is asking very little, and a sense of justice demands that their request be favorably considered. The property holders have had all the advantages from the department, and should grant something to the fire department in return.

Now comes the practical question of how this request should be answered. An opportunity will be offered in voting on the issue of $10,000 in bonds to build the city building. We confess that we are averse to the issue of any bonds unless absolutely necessary, but it is a question whether this action is not necessary to keep up the proper enthusiasm in the companies, and if so, essential to the city's best interests. Certainly if the bonds are voted down, some other proposition should be immediately made for the better accommodation of the department. It is a question whether the plan of having the council, police and fire department all in one building is wise. The new plan gives, even if carried out, rather limited and incomplete quarters for the different organizations. It would seem to be much better to have the fire department have all of the new building which may be put up. We trust that all who vote on the issue of bonds on Tuesday will bear in mind the reasonableness of the fire department in asking for better accommodations and that it is simply a matter of justice to answer the request favorably.

PERSONAL.

English papers announce the death of Alfred Jieh, the painter.

The English edition of Frederick Douglass' autobiography is to have a preface written by John Bright.

Ex-Vice President Wheeler has arrived home at Malone, N. Y., from his southern trip. His health is good.

There are four grandchildren of General Braddock, the victim of the historic defeat, living in Jefferson county, Fla.

It is a purple inky cloak that Anna Dickinson wears as Hamlet, "with symmetrical extensions done up in a darker hue of the same," as the New York Sun remarks.

A daughter of old John Brown has a daughter residing at Saratoga, Cal., and it is suggested that President Arthur should provide her with a clerkship in the mint at San Francisco.

The following cheerful notice has recently been hung up, neatly framed, in the bed rooms at the Langham Hotel, London: "In case of the death of a visitor the hotel charge in addition to that for damage to linen, &c., and cleaning room, will be five guin as."

The statue of Washington by Mr. J. Q. A. Ward, which will be placed on the steps of the United States sub treasury in New York, is in present Washington in the civil costume of his time, standing easily, with the weight chiefly on the right foot. The right hand is extended at the level of the hips, as if in the act of laying the hand upon the book to take the oath as commemorated by the statue.

It is expected that next month the princess royal of Germany will be a grandmother. The Berliners are even now in a state of excitement. The sound of every cannon wafted to them by the breeze from the practicing ground at Tegel seem to them to be the first of the 101 guns which announce the birth of an heir to the throne. Should the little stranger be a boy, three generations of direct heirs to an imperial crown will be in existence, no occurrence unexampled in history.

At a recent "drawing-room," held by Queen Victoria in London, enormous bouquets were carried by most of the ladies, and many of the dresses worn were trimmed with huge flowers. One lady had her train looped back with sunflowers about as large as dinner plates. In the bouquets only simple and old-fashioned flowers, such as primroses, jonquils, wall-flowers and narcissus were conspicuous, while the daffodil appeared to be a great favorite. A debutante carried a large bunch of ox-eyed daisies. Even the flunkeys attending were daffodils in their button holes.

SEVEN NEW RED HATS.

The Prices of the Church Soon to be Created by Leo XIII.—Dr. Cullen's Successor.

At the approaching consistory, to be held within a few days, the pope, it is stated, will add seven new members to the sacred college in the persons of the archbishops of Dublin, Seville and Algiers; the patriarch of Venice; Mgr. Ricci, major domo to his holiness, Mgr. Jacobini, assessor of the holy office, and Mgr. Lasagni, secretary of the congregation of the consistory.

Dr. Edward McCabe, archbishop of Dublin, is a native of Dublin, where he was born in 1816. He received his education at the well-known school of the Rev. Dr. Doyle and at Maynooth, and was ordained by Archbishop Murray. After serving as curate at Clontarf and in the Pro-Cathedral, Marlborough street, he was, in 1856, appointed parish priest of St. Nicholas, one of the poorest and most populous localities in Dublin, where he distinguished himself by his efforts to improve the condition of his poor parishioners and to promote education among them. In 1866 Archbishop Cullen appointed Dr. McCabe one of his vicars general, transferring him to the important parish of Kingstown. In 1879, when the cardinal's health was failing, Dr. McCabe, as bishop of Gadara in partibus, was appointed Bishop auxiliary, an appointment which did not, however, confer the right of succession. After Dr. Cullen's death, Dr. McCabe, who administered the diocese as Vicar Capitular, was nominated to the Pope as the most worthy distinguished of the three prelates selected by the chapter and parish priests, receiving 43 votes of 51, and on the 24th of March, 1879, his selection by the Cardinals of the Propaganda was officially confirmed by the Pope. Dr. McCabe is a man of good parts, a canonist of distinction, popular with his clergy and an excellent administrator. In the agitation in Ireland his name has been frequently mentioned during the past two years. In June, 1880, he issued a pastoral warning his flock to restrain agitation within the limits of equity and moderation, and in February, 1881, replying to a pontifical letter, deplored "acts and speeches which have blackened a cause otherwise most just." In his Lenten pastoral he severely censured the Land Leaguers for seeking allies from among such "impious infidels" as Hugo and Roche fort, denouncing also the bringing of women into the ranks of the agitators. Archbishop Croke, of Cashel, broke a lance with Cardinal Cullen's successor, an action for which he was ordered by his ecclesiastical superiors to apologize. The Archbishop of Dublin's latest utterance was apropos of the squabble over the proposed Dublin exhibition—a warning that if the effort to establish Irish manufactures was to succeed it must rest on utilitarian and not merely on patriotic grounds.

Charles Martial Allemand Lavigerie, Archbishop of Algiers and Apostolic Administrator of Tunis, was born at Bayonne, October 31, 1825, and educated at Paris at the Seminary of St. Nicholas, under Dupanloup, and at the Seminary of St. Sulpice, taking his doctoral degree in 1850 and in 1853 becoming a doctor of theology at the Sorbonne. In that same year he was chosen to the chair of ecclesiastical history at the Sorbonne. In 1856 he interested himself in the cause of Oriental education, and four years later went to the Libanus to distribute among the suffering Christians a sum of $800,000 raised largely through his exertions. In 1861 he was sent to Rome as Auditor of the Rota for France, and on the 6th of March, 1863, was preconized Bishop of Nancy. As bishop and member of the Imperial Council of Public Instruction Mgr. Lavigerie displayed such zeal and capacity that on the death of Mgr. Pavy he was translated to Algiers (January 12, 1867), which had just become an archiepiscopal see. During the famine of 1867 the Archbishop engaged actively in the work of succoring the natives for whom he opened large asylums, getting in to a warm discussion with Marshal MacMahon, who contested his right to interfere in such matters. In 1870 he sent out a strong missionary force to Soudan and the Sahara, and two years later founded the important missions of Tanganyika and Lake Nyanza. He has also been active in the foundation of African missionary and educational institutions. Last year the administration of Tunis, hitherto held by an Italian prelate, was added to his charge. Mgr. Lavigerie took part in the council of the Vatican, acting with the majority. In politics he has been a sort of liberal clerical, recognizing the democratic tendency of the age, but seeking to unite Ultramontanism with it. He is the first cardinal selected from France's African possessions, and the senior French archbishop not a member of the red hat. His creation leaves one hat still due to France, her quota of cardinals being seven.

Mgr. Pietro Lasagni, secretary of the Sacred college and the Consistorial Congregation, should, according to custom, have received the red beretta when Cardinal Pecci donned the white one as Leo XIII., but the new pope put his discarded cap in his pocket, somewhat to the surprise of the conclave and its secretary. The act, however, it was intimated, conveyed no reflection upon Mgr. Lasagni, but was intended as a protest against the practice of conferring the hat for merely perfunctory duties.

Mgr. Ricci Paracciani, a marquis and the first palatine prelate, is a pious and amiable gentleman whom Pius IX. made major-domo. His creation, also, has long been anticipated as a concession to the friends of the late pope. It will also leave the important post of major domo vacant, to which Mgr. Theodoli, prefect of the fabrique of St. Peter's, or Mgr. Macchi the Maestra di Camera, will be promoted in all probability, the latter vacancy being filled by the appointment of Mgr. Pecci, Internuncio to Holland, or by Mgr. Prosperi, a kinsman of the pope, but, instead having the reputation of possessing the evil eye. It has been believed hitherto that Mgr. Ricci, Mgr. Laurenzi, the pope's private almoner, and Mgr. Schiaffino, director of the Aurora, were the three cardinals reserved in petto at the consistory of December 13, 1880.

The patriarch of Venice is Mgr. Domenico Agostino and the archbishop of Seville is Mgr. Joachim Lloch y Garriga. Mgr. Angelo Jacobini is an assessor of the holy office, and a cousin of the cardinal secretary of state.

These new creations will slightly increase the Italian majority in the sacred college, whose members, excluding the cardinals "reserved," will be divided, according to the best attainable list, into thirty-five Italians and thirty foreigners. Among the latter, however, are such men as Cardinals Zigliara, Pitra and De Falloux, who are quite as Italian as the most Italian of their brethren.

"Old Sol" Homesick.

Jacksonville, (Fla.) Times.

Old Sol was around early this morning to put out in the lamps and empty the spring poetry out of the waste basket. Suddenly he remarked:

"I got awful homesick dis mornin'—de fust time sence I bin down hyar!"

"What made you feel so?"

"Only dat I saw, across de fust Georgy mule dat I'd seed in Florida! He wuz er thurrer-bred, too, an' hadn't got 'elimated yit!"

"What was he doing so extraordinary?"

"He warn't doin' nuffin dat wuz 'stroordinary fur er Georgy mule, but hit 'peared like er earthquake had sot down in de san' on Forsyth street in front of dat stable."

"Did they have much trouble with him?"

"Well, dey look'd like dey warntid ter had sum 'sensshun wid him, but not seem' no Georgy niggr in de gang he jess took do lo' on his own noshun. By de time he'd dubbed up one darkey like de better V an' flung anudder o'er a red 'spress waggin dere didn't seem no mo' d'zire fer ter interfere wid de sylcone!"

"Did he finally get away from the crowd?"

"Well, d'ut's de mos' uselessness questhin what you ever axed me! I tho't you kno'd dat er Georgy mule waz like er nigger polytishun—when he kat hab his own way, no udder way he jes ra's us hell an' kicks up behine, an' fore yer kin tell which end ob 'im is in de air dey aint nuffin left in sight but a cloud rob dus way down de big road!"

Which idea so tickled the old man that he forgot his homesickness and went out whistling gayly.

COLLEGE NOTES

The First Geological Expedition

The first of the geological expeditions under Professor Stone took place last Saturday The first went on foot but teams will be provided for the succeeding ones Last Saturday s journey was along the mesa The places for the others will depend somewhat on the weather Professor Stone desires it announced that not only the members of the regular geology class but those of the evening class as well are invited to be of these parties

I have not yet learned the particulars in regard to the lectures to be given by Professors Mudgh and Sheldon The slides for the lantern to be used in the lectures have not I understand all arrived yet

Last term s programme is not greatly changed There are no classes in Horace and Morris and Sears Early English These studies are a part of the course for the freshman year

The Occidental club will not meet this week At the last meeting Frank I Johnson was elected president, Louis A Bartlett vice president, M Belle Older secretary and treasurer, and Helen M D Longo member of the executive committee These persons hold their positions until next October, and so on them will devolve the duty of getting the society started in the autumn Mr Bartlett resigned from the Mirror s managers and R G Kimball was chosen to fill the vacancy The yearly elections are over The doubtful member and the member supposed to be amenable to persuasion will no longer be beckoned into a corner and entreated to act wisely in the terrible crisis

The Rugby foot ball has arrived and now many of the boys will again for a while at least, spend the recesses in athletic sport

Professor Marden has again called the attention of students to the rule about excuses, and desires it to be more faithfully complied with hereafter

Another effort is making to have singing at chapel exercises Miss Estabrook plays the piano and Professors Marden and Bacon and Mr Barnes lead the singing Yesterday morning the students did very well on Nearer, My God, to Thee How long the new venture will thrive remains to be seen It is to be hoped the singing will not need be dropped again

The college now owns a good piano but the one in the chapel is private property The college piano stands in Professor Sheldon s recitation room at present

The athletic association of Colorado college will meet at half past two next Friday afternoon

The class in New Testament Greek will read this term the Epistle to the Galatians

We have a number of new pupils among them Miss Emma Cross, who attended last year Miss Edith Ferris appears again in the German class Miss Estabrook is a new student recently arrived from Michigan

I understand there has been more or less curiosity in regard to what the boarding club has to eat To allay the excitement I give the following bill of fare Breakfast bread and butter, dinner salt mackerel potatoes supper water and bread On Sundays members have a cup of tea and every fourth Sunday treat lowest to season it with sugar and milk If no unforeseen accident to the finances prevents the last supper of the school year will be celebrated with stewed dried apples

The time for handing in essays on Cobden for the Strettell prize will expire with to morrow

Call for Prohibition Caucus.

The friends of prohibition are requested to meet in Court House hall, Friday evening, March 31st, 1882, at 7 30 o clock, for the purpose of nominating a mayor, city treasurer, and one alderman from each ward and for the transaction of such other business as may regularly come before the meeting

The committee urge the attendance of all who desire the enforcement of prohibition ordinances and of all needed sanitary regulations, together with a wise and economical administration of the city's affairs

The committee do not feel that it is within their province to change the usual custom of calling a general mass meeting and substitute for this the ward caucus, as urged by many of our citizens but recommend that the question be submitted to the mass meeting for its decision and the incoming committee be instructed as to the manner in which future caucuses shall be called

Old Folks concert at Court House hall to night

The new concrete pavement in front of Bacon's stable is completed

Mr G W Barnhart and wife left for the east on the morning express yesterday

An entertainment will shortly be given in the M E church for the benefit of the library fund

Lieutenant Roby, of Company A, will act as brigade commissary at the coming state military encampment

The Denver & New Orleans line card went into effect on Monday but no coaches have yet put in their appearance

Reserved seats for the opening night of the Milton Nobles engagement are now on sale at Howbert Bros book store

The directors of the athletic association are requested to meet in Hon L C Parrish's office this morning at ten o clock

Postmaster Price has added fifty more lock boxes to the postoffice Many have been patiently waiting for them and the best ones have already been taken

Now that the sun is becoming a little warm the tar pavement in front of the Wanless block is beginning to thaw out and stick to the feet of pedestrians

Contribute a half dollar to the home for friendless children by attending the Old Folks' concert at Court House hall to-night

Milton Nobles will no doubt draw a good house in "Interviews" on Friday night at the opera house He made a decided hit in "Phœnix" when here before

At a meeting held last night the Denver & Rio Grande base ball club disbanded, with the intention of joining the athletic association Colorado Springs will thus have the only incorporated ball club in the state

Major McAllister informs us that he has a few more of the celebrated golden Pocklington grape vines than he has room for and that his friends can have them at cost, $1 00 each by applying immediately. They are just the grape for this section.

Mr. J. D O'Haire, the new artist tailor who has recently established himself in business on Huerfano street, advertises among our business locals this morning He has large assortment of the latest styles in spring suitings, and guarantees a perfect fit or no pay

Mr B F Woodward, superintendent of the Denver & Rio Grande telegraph line, and Mr Bates, general manager for the state of the Western Union, were in the city yesterday The object of their visit was to look over the Manitou line with the intention of changing it from its present course so as to follow the railroad

Messrs. Nye & Cruiz, the photographers have secured the services of Mr. A M Cunningham, an experienced operator of St. Catherine's, Ontario Mr Cunningham comes highly recommended by Mr Bates, of Denver, and several other eastern artists He has some photographs to the Paris exposition, which commanded universal attention. He will commence his duties here about April 16th

It is surprising what numerous improvements are being made in the southern part of the city Houses are in the course of erection on nearly every block and the majority of them are of the better class What was a year ago a barren plain is now being fenced in, trees planted, ditches dug and water pipe laid. A large number of buildings are also going up in the southern part of the city

Mr Henry Le B Wills announces that he will hereafter conduct the real estate and insurance business himself He will give careful attention to the insurance business He represents a large number of first-class companies, among others the Royal of Liverpool, Boston Underwriters, National, of Hartford, and Lion of London.

Some very interesting private theatricals were witnessed by a number of invited guests, at the residence of Mrs Louise Thomas, on Pike's Peak avenue, last evening
